Rate Bill Again Sent Back To The Joint Conference For Further Discussion.

STATEHOOD BILL ALSO SENT BACK

Two Important Measures Of Prese t Session Delayed By Tactics Of The Opposition This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., June 12.—Both the Rate Bill and the Statehood bill met with slight reverses this morning in the House and Senate, respectively. In the House the Rate bill was sent back for further consideration of the conference and in the Senate the Statehood Bill had the same fate.

In the House
In the House this morning Dalzell of Pennsylvania today presented to the House a rule from the committee on rules, taking the railroad rate bill from the Speaker's table and sending it to the conference as requested by the Senate. Williams of Mississippi, the minority leader, immediately objected and called for an aye and nay vote on the question.

Ordered Sent
The previous question was immediately called for and upon the vote of the House the measure was sent to the joint Senate and House conference as requested by the Senate. This will mean a further delay in the final vote upon the measure.

In the Senate
The Senate played the same tactics with the Statehood Bill and by a decisive vote withdrew the report of the conference on the measure and another conference will be held and a new report made to the Senate on the matter in hand.

Increase Salaries

MICHIGAN PRIMARY BEING HELD TODAY

Candidates Must Have Forty Per Cent of Entire Vote in One Party to Be Nominated.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Lansing, Mich., June 12.—Michigan voters are participating in their first state primary today and the results are awaited with considerable interest by all parties. Under the primary law the nominations for governor and lieutenant governor are made this year by direct vote, but the candidates for the remainder of the state officers are to be nominated at state conventions as heretofore. The successful candidate must receive at least 40 per cent of the vote cast at the primaries. If he fails to receive that portion of the vote, even though he may have a plurality, the nomination is left to the state convention. Governor Fred M. Wampler will be renominated by the republicans, and in all probability Patrick H. Kelley of this city will be named for lieutenant governor. Woodbridge N. Ferris, who made the race two years ago, is again to be the democratic standard-bearer.

Denison at the residence of Miss Nicholson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nicholson, 151 Linn street. The bride was very prettily gowned in light pink mull and the wedding march was played by Mrs. Clayton Tanberg. Owing to the recent illness of Mrs. Nicholson only the immediate relatives of the two young people were witnesses and the bride and groom were unattended. The home was very prettily decorated in pink and white on a profusion of green foliage. On Thursday evening they will be the guests of honor at a large reception tendered by the parents of the groom in Beloit. Many guests will be present and about twenty-five Janesville people, mostly lady friends of the bride, will attend. Mr. and Mrs. Martin will be at Lake Kegonsa, where the groom owns a cottage, by Sunday. The summer will be spent there and after the middle of September Mr. and Mrs. Martin will be at home in the Line City. Besides the showers there was a survey party one evening last week and a launch party up the river. The many friends of the two presented them with a large number of pretty and handsome gifts. Mr. Martin has until recently been employed as a department foreman in the shops of the Fairbanks-Morse company. AN INTERESTING STUDY.

A Complete University Of Zoology Will Soon Be Here.

Zoology is that part of natural history that treats of animals. It is a most interesting diversion, this study of animal life, for one learns of the habits, the disposition, the shape, coloring, size, and strength of these creatures of the Almighty, diversified as they are; the one small, the other large; the one so constituted that he enjoys the intense cold of the frozen north, while the other is contented with the enervating climate of the torrid zone and finds his greatest delight in wandering through the steaming, fever-laden jungles of the tropics. Should the interested student travel the earth's surface in the hope of getting even a passing glance at these varied creatures, he would not only consume years of time, but would be subjected to hardships and disease that would make the attainment of the knowledge a poor investment. The Carl Hagenbeck Greater Shows bring to your feet a specimen of practically every known creature in the animal world. In this great traveling Zoo you see the polar bear of the frozen north side by side with the African lion, the hippopotamus of the Nile is but six feet removed from the grizzly bear of our own Rockies. The native tiger of the Bengal jungles labors ceaselessly to and fro, darting glances of fire across the narrow space that separates him from the cougar of South America. From the earth's remotest points have been collected and placed together in this one tent an aggregation of the world's greatest animal curiosities. To see them, to watch them and to study them is a part of the education of every man, woman and child. A book may tell you of their habits and their size, but the knowledge can only be indelibly impressed upon your memory by actually seeing the living, breathing specimen, with his lithe or bulky form, his meek or fiery eyes, his ceaseless plodding or quiet contentment and his expression of intense hatred or willing friendship. A visit to the Carl Hagenbeck Greater Shows, which exhibit here on Friday, June 15, affords opportunity for this interesting observation. To permit of intelligent study of the menagerie the doors at both daily performances are opened one hour previous to the beginning of the arena performance.

HEALTH OFFICER
SURPRISED DADSWITH A REPORT ON SANITARY CONDITION OF CITY.

FREE NOW FROM CONTAGION

St. Paul Ry. Co. Was Ordered to Disconnect Its Sanitary Pipes From Storm Sewer—Other Business.

For the first time in years a report of what had transpired in the health department of the city during the preceding month was presented at the council meeting last evening. Health Officer W. D. Morrill's little surprise found the aldermen unprepared with any committee to which his statement could be properly referred, but in the end they turned it over to the members of their body who supervise police affairs and it was duly passed upon and adopted. According to the data submitted there were eight cases of contagious disease during the month of May—six of smallpox and two of scarlet fever. The patients afflicted with the first-named malady were: Mrs. Fitzpatrick of No. 4 Linn street, Ben Garle of Jackson street, Charles Preller of 113 North avenue, Charles Elfeldt, a boarder at the Riverside hotel, a party named Hilton of 157 Prairie avenue, a party named Augur residing at 233 Washington street. The scarlet fever cases were: Joe Prox of Linn street and a party named Nassett residing at 556 Pleasant street. The Nassett case was the single instance of contagious malady existing in the city at the close of the month and quarantining was lifted there on June 6. At the present time the city is absolutely free of contagion. Fred Shaw has contracted to board, nurse, and care for inmates of the isolation hospital at the rate of $25.00 a day for one and $2 apiece for each additional patient. With the consent of the city attorney, the health officer announced that he had purchased suitable generators and appliances for disinfection work. Mudholes in some of the more objectionable alleys, he suggested, should be filled with gravel. Repairs ordered at the last meeting would be made without delay.

Other Reports Received.
The municipal court report for the month of May showed that one-third of the court fees amounting to $9.33, one-third of the fines amounting to $43, one-third of the penalties amounting to $11.55 had been paid into the city treasury; and two-thirds of the court fees amounting to $13.66, all fines for illegal fishing amounting to $25 had been paid into the city treasury. The total fines, fees, and penalties was $225.84. The report was accepted and placed on file. City Treasurer Fathens' report was likewise received and filed. By an order the finance committee was directed to employ Harry Haggart to examine and audit the city treasurer's books and accounts for the year ending June 30, 1906, and to report to the council. The work is to be done at an expense not to exceed $75. The report of the assistant street commissioner on new sidewalks needed, was adopted and he was instructed to serve notice on the property-holders affected thereby. Alderman Fish called this officer's attention to the condition of a number of walks on Chatham street and vicinity. The reports of the board of education, the chief engineer, the city marshal, the finance committee on bills and the salary list, were all favorably passed upon. The city clerk was directed to draw an order on the treasurer, payable from the Memorial Day fund, in favor of Mayor J. E. Hutchinson in the sum of $73.79 to pay the expenses of the 1906 observance. John Dalton, John Benson, and H. M. Weaver were appointed special police officers without pay from May 29 to August 27. The appointments were confirmed.

Highway Improvements

Resolutions were passed providing for the following street improvements at the expense of the real estate to be benefited, together with instructions to the street assessment committee to view the premises and assess benefits and damages to the various parcels of land: the laying of gutters and curbing on Terrace street from the intersection of West Bluff to that of Racine street; the grading of Glenetta street, Clark from Glenetta to the easterly end, Vista avenue north from Wheeler to Dixon, Vista avenue south, Carrington from Main to Dickson, Gore street, Wheeler from Main to Clark, Home Park avenue, and Dickson street; the grading of Riverside avenue from the C. & N. W. right-of-way to Stone, and Stone street from Riverside to Western avenue. The report of the street assessment committee on plans for the grading of Garfield avenue and other thoroughfares in Forest Park was received and passed upon. The street commissioner was instructed to repair Terrace street, from West Bluff to Racine, with rubble; to have the sewers flushed and the manholes cleaned; to build brick crosswalks on Pearl, across Prospect avenue on the east side of the intersection of Caroline street, across Fourth avenue on the east side of Caroline street. Property-owners on the east side of Park avenue, between the Western and Washington avenue intersections, were granted permission to lay four-foot walks and permission to do the same thing in front of his property on Pleasant street, was granted to J. M. Bostwick. By a resolution the sidewalk line on the east side of North Franklin street between West Bluff and Race streets, was established four feet from the property line.

St. Paul Must Disconnect Sewer

The St. Paul railroad company was ordered to disconnect its sanitary sewer from the storm sewer, with which it is now connected, and join its pipes with the sanitary system of the city of Janesville.

By an order the city clerk was directed to ask the banks of Janesville to submit, not later than June 25, bids for the use of the monies of the city, stipulating the amount of interest they shall be willing to pay and the method of computing it.

The city engineer was directed to file a sidewalk grade for East street between South Third and Oakland avenue.

Why Worry About
Your ChildrenRight Food Goes Far To Keep Them
Strong And Healthy.

Give your children plenty of good, pure food, rich in nutrition but easy to digest, and let them romp and play out doors to their hearts' content and you need not worry about their health this summer.

We know of no other food so good, so pure, so rich in all the nutrition that little folks need, and so very easy to digest, as Malta-Vita, the delicious malted whole wheat food. Malta-Vita gives children the highest possible degree of nourishment that their young bodies need, but does not tax the strength of their stomachs or overheat their blood. All the valuable food elements contained in this crisp, delicious, flaked whole wheat food are practically pre-digested and are taken up quickly by the system, forming pure red blood and giving vitality to the body and mind alike. It is the ideal food for every one all the year around, but most especially, it is the one perfect food for children in the summer.

A bowlful of Malta-Vita with milk or cream, and perhaps a little fresh fruit or fruit juice, makes the ideal breakfast for the rest of the family. Such a breakfast starts you off on the day just right. It gives you the life and vigor to accomplish things and enjoy yourself. It is a safeguard against indigestion and positive insurance of good health. All grocers sell Malta-Vita. Now 10 cents.

YEAR'S FIRE LOSS
IS NOT OVER $500Since January 1 There Have Been 35 Alarms—Report of the Chief Engineer.

Chief Klein's quarterly report of the city's fire department was received and placed on file by the city council last evening. His recommendations regarding the steamers will doubtless receive attention at an early date. The full text is as follows: "To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville.

"Gentlemen: I herewith submit the quarterly report of the chief engineer of the fire department, and in doing so will say, that we are exceedingly fortunate in the way of fires. I do not think that the fire loss so far this year will exceed $500. There have been thirty-five (35) alarms of fire since January first, of which twenty-five (25) were 'stills.' "The horses of the department are in good health and condition. One horse was bought since my last quarterly report, the same costing $175. The said horse is at this time being trained for the service.

"All of the fire wagons with the exception of number 3, are in good condition. Some of them would be improved in appearance by the addition of a coat of varnish, which would also help to preserve the paint. The tires on number 3 wagon should be reset, after which it should be painted.

The department has in service 9,050 feet of fire hose, which is classified as follows: first class, 2,450 feet; second class, 400; third class, 2,200. A large amount of this third class hose would not stand fire pressure for any length of time. This is a cheap grade and is now about six years old. In view of the fact that this last mentioned hose is apt to break down at any time, I would respectfully request, that as soon as there is money available, 1,000 feet be purchased.

"Our steam fire engine is not in the condition it should be to cope with a fire where high pressure is needed. The same was apparent on May 25, when the apparatus was used on a fire in the city of Evansville. The engine, at that time, was only capable of throwing about half the amount of water it should, according to its size and rating. Believing it unwise to allow it to remain in its present condition, I will respectfully request that the same be rebuilt or repaired.

"Respectfully submitted,
"H. C. KLEIN,
"Chief Engineer."

GATHERING OF THE GALLANTS

Incredible Animal Spectacle Presented
By The Hagenbeck Greater Shows.

As a striking feature of the trained animal performances to be presented by the Carl Hagenbeck Greater Shows, which exhibit here on Friday, June 15, one grouping of wild beasts will attract particular attention: because of its heroic proportions. The animal wizard, has affectionately termed this his "Gathering of the Gallants." It comprises a collection of a score of lions and lionesses, tigers and tigresses, leopards, pumas, Polar bears, bear hounds and creation's crowning living wonder, a monster hybrid lion-tiger, a creature combining the physical peculiarities of either species and wearing the tiger's stripes upon the lion's skin. The spectator is here confronted with the incredible spectacle of six different species, each one naturally the implacable foe of all the rest, under a single trainer's quiet direction, amicably and conjointly participating in the most wonderful performances. The dreaded jungle terrors, the tigers, playfully indulge in a game of saw-saw, with a bear bound gravely balancing them. Another tiger rides a tricycle propelled by two of the dogs, pushing from the rear. The leopards, Polar bears, and pumas do rolling and balancing stunts with barrels and balls. The bear hounds track figure eights around pedestals from which lions and tigers grimly grin at them. Lions and tigers hospitably convert themselves into a soft and handsome couch for their trainer to lie upon and the biggest tiger gratifying his teacher's curiosity by permitting him to put his head into its mouth. The entire group assembles at the festive board and partakes of a feast with the trainer as host, but the crowning test of the docility of these fearless associates comes when their comrade and commander, causing each of them to stand erect before him and to place its forepaw upon his shoulders, feeds it raw meat taken from his hand while held above his head as far back as he can reach. Those who have observed the ferocity of these cat animals when fed in their dens can gain some conception of the daring character of this unparalleled feat.

Literary Note.

"How Ought Wealth to be Distributed?" is the striking title of a striking article in the June "Atlantic." Professor T. N. Carver has some significant things to say here about the various theories that are holding the field today. They may all be reduced, he maintains, to three, which he terms the aristocratic, the socialistic, and the liberalistic—or democratic—theories. We have listened to so much pyrotechnic eloquence of late on the subject of socialism, that it is a relief to hear its claims so soberly estimated and criticized. "From every one according to his ability—to every one according to his needs"—this, says Professor Carver, "is a formula which fairly well summarizes the socialistic theory of distribution."

The chief difficulty with the theory is that it does not determine what the special ability of each man is nor what his special needs are, either. "There is always a class," he says, "large or small, as the case may be, who need the stimulus of a prospective advantage to themselves to call forth their best efforts, who will do their best only when their rewards depend upon the value of their services."

This is sound talk, and deserves thoughtful attention.

No Concession To Golfists, Thus Far.
New York Tribune: Churches grow less and less conventional. The Rev. B. H. Bosanquet, vicar of St. James Ditton, England, wishing to uphold by the popularity of the "Thames Sunday" bouting, announces that the church wardens will be glad to reserve special seats in the parish church for those in boating costume.

Crapsey's Peculiar Aberration.
Chicago Chronicle: With inveterate inconsistency, Rev. Dr. Crapsey announces that he will institute proceedings to compel his reinstatement in a religious organization, whose agents he expressly repudiates. This is a manifestation of the peculiar aberration which sometimes affects men who think they are standing out for their rights and opinions when in truth they are trying to force their opinions upon others.

"Pernicious Habit" Is Spreading.
Madison Journal: Never, perhaps, in the history of the trade has there been such a shortage in tobacco, as at the present, says the Leaf. The situation is not local or national, but international, and almost universal. The cigar using nations have all been unusually prosperous. They have gained largely in wealth and population. Tobacco acreage has not increased commensurately.

Politest Man In The World.
London Tit Bits: The politest man has been discovered. He was hurrying along a street the other night, when another man, also in violent haste, rushed out of a doorway, and the two collided with great force. The second man looked mad, while the polite man, taking off his hat, said: "My dear sir, I don't know which of us is to blame for this violent encounter, but I am in too great a hurry to investigate. I beg your pardon; if you ran into me, don't mention it."

If Anarchy Had Triumphed.
El Paso Herald: In the line of succession to the Spanish throne after Alfonso, without counting any of the Carlists out in the woods, comes first his oldest aunt, Isabel, widow of an Italian count, a woman of fifty-five, thoroughly indoctrinated with Bourbonism of the rankest type. Next is her sister, Maria de la Paz, wife of a Brazilian prince, and finally, infanta Eulalia, who created something of a sensation during the Chicago world's fair by her unconventional behavior. None of them is fit to be ruler; and had the anarchist's boom reached Alfonso, it would have been a free-for-all race among a lots of worthless, broken-down princelings.

Tomorrow evening comes the class play, Shakespeare's "As You Like It." The twenty-five seniors who compose the casts of this production have been kept at rehearsals early and late for the past three weeks and under Mrs. Janet Day's direction have rounded into good form that gives promise of making the production one of the most successful ever given by a graduating class. Yesterday afternoon the costumes for the play arrived and the first dress rehearsal was given, lasting from six until twelve o'clock.

Good Music
The music for the graduating nights will be furnished by the High School Orchestra, which has been drilled by Mrs. Hyde, and the Girls' Glee Club. These two musical organizations have been doing excellent work and their portions of the entertainments promise to be most pleasing. Every attention possible has been paid to the comfort of the invited guests and the accommodation of the audiences who will attend the exercises. Should the weather be warm electric fans have been installed for use. The exercises this evening commence at eight.

The first of the preliminary entertainments for the popular young couple is to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Valentine on Friday evening of this week. MEMORIAL WINDOW UNVEILED SUNDAY

Lasting Tribute to Late Reverend Dr. Wilder Dedicated on Anniversary of Arrival Here.

At the Sunday morning services in the Congregational church the Wilder memorial window was unveiled. The tribute is from the Children's choir, the Ladies Benevolent society and a few friends and the ceremony of dedication was doubly fitted into the time, for it was Children's day and also the anniversary of Mr. Wilder's coming to the pulpit here. His first sermon as pastor of the church was preached on the second Sunday in June, 1887. The window is in the center of the north side of the church and adds greatly to the interior beauty. The color scheme is most artistic, the glass representing Zimmerman's "Christ." The divine figure occupies the central position and the conversion of Peter, the fisherman, is represented. The sea of Galilee forms the background.

THE LATE REV. MR. WILDER

T. C. Zahm.

HERE IS ONE ON TWO JANESVILLE MEN NOW

Beloit Free Press Tells of Their Rescue From Drowning at Lake Kegonsa.

The following story of a daring rescue of two Janesville men by Beloit citizens is reprinted from the Free Press. The names of the Janesville victims are not given:

"Two Beloit citizens who modestly endeavor to avoid the limelight went to the center of the stage this week when they saved two lives from being sacrificed in the waters of Lake Kegonsa. They are President of the Council P. H. Crahen and Grove L. Lane of Camp Columbia and they are just now the heroes of the early season at the lakes.

"The report comes all the way from Stoughton as the Beloit men were too modest to even tell their friends here of the incident, but they rescued two Janesville men, who had overturned their boat and surely prevented a double drowning. The Janesville men were stopping at Raywood and after having an unusual morning's luck in getting a fine catch, hooked a very large pickerel. In their anxiety to land the great fellow, their boat was overturned and a general panic ensued.

"Only the fact that Messrs. Lane and Crahen were nearby and rescued both accounts for their escape, and as it was they had a thorough ducking, lost their fish, and their entire outfit—and the big pickerel."

HITCHING STABLE ON THE EAST SIDE

Coterie of Local Business Men Are Planning to Undertake New Enterprise.

Charles Kemmerer, Francis Grant, and Joseph Humphrey are fostering a movement to erect a large hitching stable on North Bluff street, between the Milwaukee and North First street intersection. There are at present several frame buildings on the property, one used by James Gardner as a blacksmith shop, another occupied as a storage room by the Janesville Carriage Works, a two-story barn, and a small carpenter shop. The corner is used by Cullen Bros. as a coal yard. The projected structure is to be built of brick and together with the land will cost about $20,000. It is to be somewhat on the plan of the North Franklin street enterprise. There will be stores facing on Bluff street and the building will be so constructed that teams may drive into the basement from North First street.

W. G. T. U. Should Favor Beer

Miss Phoebe Cousins Speaks Plainly And To The Point On Temperance.

Every day seems to bring us nearer a sane, sensible, and practical solution of the temperance question in the United States. More than one noted speaker and thinker have of late shown a leaning to a practical rather than a theoretical effort to aid in the cause of temperance. One of the most noted women of our day and age is Miss Phoebe Cousins, for a quarter of a century the leader in the woman's suffrage movement, in the west. She recently said: "There never will be a law to compel prohibition and the sensible thing for the Women's Christian Temperance Union to do is to aid in the substitution of mild, nourishing drinks like beer which seldom produces drunkenness."

This broad assertion may bring a storm of criticism from the fanatical upon this devoted woman's head but in the end the living truth of her words will prevail. She is borne out in her statement by statistics. It has been clearly shown that with the increased use of malt beverages in this country there has been a corresponding decrease in intemperance.

Recently a prominent army officer in the west operated canteens at three different army posts at which only beer was sold—no alcoholic liquors whatever were allowed. He made the canteens so acceptable to the soldiers, who found beer satisfying their demands that he actually ran all the low dives of the surrounding neighborhood out of business. Yet it was through the efforts of the W. G. T. U. that the army canteens were driven out. Let us hope the many noble women comprising the W. G. T. U. will be broad minded enough to recognize their mistake and join Miss Cousins and others who are sincerely striving to stem the tide of intemperance by the substitution of mild, harmless beer for strong drink. In this connection it might be well to mention that chemical analysis shows Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer, which is perhaps the best known of all bottled beers, to contain only a fraction over three per cent. alcohol—as one eminent physician puts it, "just enough for a good tonic effect to the stomach, while in food value it is far superior on account of the Pabst exclusive eight-day process of making malt."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from two drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for literature and testimonials. Address: F. J. "Aye," added Hieracius, "and leave our children and our women to death and dishonor. Then that surrender is better, since there is no hope of success."

"Nay," answered Balian, "we will not surrender. While God lives there is hope."

"He lived on the day of Hattin, and suffered it," said Hieracius; and the council broke up, having decided nothing.

That afternoon Balian stood once more before Saladin and implored him to spare the city.

sworn to destroy?" he asked. "When I offered you mercy you would have none of it. Why do you ask it now?"

Then Balian answered him in those words that will ring through history forever.

"For this reason, sultan. Before God, if die we must, we will first slaughter our women and our little children, leaving you neither wife nor female to enslave. We will burn the city with its wealth; we will grind the holy rock to powder and make of the mosque al-Aksa and the other sacred places a heap of ruins. We will cut the throats of the 5000 followers of the prophet who are in our power, and then, every man of us who can bear arms, we will rally out into the midst of you and fight on till we fall. So I think Jerusalem shall cost you dear."

The sultan stared at him and stroked his beard.

"Eighty thousand lives," he muttered. "Eighty thousand lives, besides those of my soldiers whom you will slay. A great slaughter—and the holy city destroyed forever. Oh, it was of such a massacre as this that once I dreamed."

CHAPTER XXIII.

FROM the day when he saw Saladin Godwin began to grow strong again, and as his health came back, so he felt to thinking. Rosamund was lost to him and Masouda dead. What more had he to do with life, which had been so full of sorrow, struggle and bloodshed? Go back to England, to live there, upon his hands and wait until old age and death overtook him? The prospect would have pleased many, but it did not please Godwin, who felt that his days were not given to him for this purpose and that while he lived he must also labor.

As he sat thinking thus, and was very unhappy, the aged bishop Egbert, who had nursed him so well, entered his tent, and, noting his face, asked:

"What ails you, my son?"

"Would you wish to hear?" said Godwin.

"Am I not your confessor, with a right to hear?" answered the gentle old man. "Show me your trouble."

So Godwin began at the beginning and told it all—how as a lad he had secretly desired to enter the church; how the old prior of the abbey at Stargate counselled him that he was too young to judge; how then the love of Rosamund had entered into his life with his childhood, and he had thought no more of religion; how by degrees he had learned that Rosamund's love was not for him. Lastly he told him of Masouda.

The bishop listened in silence till he had finished. Then he looked up, saying:

"And now?"

"Now," answered Godwin, "I know not. Yet it seems to me that I hear the sound of my own feet walking upon cloister stones and of my own voice lifted up in prayer before the altar."

"You are still young to talk thus, and, though Rosamund be lost to you and Masouda dead, there are other women in the world," said Egbert.

Godwin shook his head.

"Not for me, my father."

"Oh, my son," the old bishop said, his face lighting up, "if God calls you, come to God. I will show you the road."

"Yes, I will come," Godwin answered.

"Then," said one of the leaders, "let us rally out and die fighting in the midst of foes."

"Aye," added Hieracius, "and leave our children and our women to death and dishonor. Then that surrender is better, since there is no hope of success."

It was night, and in their lamp, lit upon the Virgin of the Holy Cross upon bended knees chanted the slow and solemn "Miserere." From their hearts they sang to whom death and dishonor were so near, praying their Lord and the merciful Mother of God to have pity and to spare them and the inhabitants of the hallowed town where he had dwelt and suffered, and to lead them safe through the shadow of a fate so awful as his own. They knew that the end was near; that the walls were tottering to their fall.

Then would come the sack and the slaughter, either by the sword of the Saracens, or, perchance, if these found time and they were not forgotten, more mercifully at the hands of Christian men, who thus would save them from the worst.

Their dirge ended, the abbess rose and addressed them.

"My daughters in the Lord," she said, "the doom is almost at our door, and we must brace our hearts to meet it. If the commanders of the city do what they have promised they will send some here to behead us at the last, and so we shall pass happily to glory and be ever with the Lord. But perchance they will forget us, who are but a few among 80,000 souls, of whom some 50,000 must thus be killed. Or their arms may grow weary or themselves they may fall before they reach this house, and what, my daughters, shall we do then?"

"My mother," said Rosamund, "I am a newcomer among you, but I have seen the slaughter of Hattin, and I know what befalls Christian women and children among the unbelievers. This is my counsel: When we know that the Saracens are in the city, let us set fire to this convent and get us to our knees and so perish."

"Well spoken; it is best," muttered several. But the abbess answered with a sad smile:

"High counsel indeed, such as might be looked for from high blood. Yet it may not be taken, since self-slaughter is a deadly sin."

"I see little difference between it," said Rosamund, "and the stretching."

story we will begin running in a short time entitled

A FOOL FOR LOVE

By FRANCIS LYNDE

Mr. Lynde is the author of a number of strong American novels, among them "The Grafters," one of the strongest American stories ever printed. He is a master of railroad detail, and into "A Fool for Love" he has worked a strong romance in connection with a typical western railroad building story.

There is action in every line; the kind of action that keeps one on the tiptoe of expectancy for the next chapter.

It is the kind of a story that is satisfying.

Keep an eye out for the first chapter when it appears in the columns of this paper.
